

Law Enforcement National Data Exchange

N-DEX Training Announcement

SPECIAL ATTENTION:

Law Enforcement Agency Chiefs, Sheriffs, Officers, Investigators, Detectives, Crime Analysts, KBI Agents, Correctional Investigators, and Parole & Probation Officers.

N-DEX is a new FBI system that aids law enforcement investigators solve crimes by sharing and exchanging information with law enforcement agencies throughout the United States. N-DEX contains incident and case reports, booking and incarceration information, and parole/probation information from contributing local, state and federal agencies.

N-DEX aids investigators in solving crimes by detecting relationships between people, vehicle/property, location, and/or crime characteristics. The system helps “connect the dots” and aids investigators in developing criminal investigations leads. It can also be used to identify local crime trends and verify links between criminals in the community and their associates.

N-DEX currently holds over 160 million federal, state and local records nationwide and is increasing daily. Kansas Highway Patrol instructors will introduce you to this powerful new investigative tool, showing you how the use of N-DEX helps you and your agencies solve crimes.
